We dedicate the 1954 Medley to every facet of Danville High School life that has left an impression on us:

To our teachers for developing our minds;

To our clubs for developing our hobbies and special interests;

To our athletics for developing our bodies and sense of fair play;

To the administration and everyone whose job it was to see that our school ran efficiently;

To our advisers for knowing "how to do things" when we had problems;

To the student body who furnished the reason for publishing a yearbook in the first place.

THE MEDLEY STAFF.

This year's Medley is built around dual themes. We have tried to refresh in the minds of our readers those rights which are a part of our American Heritage, and the way in which they are practiced in our schools. We should also like to show how, through the schools, qualities which will make people better able to appreciate and preserve these rights and assume their responsibilities in the future, have been developed in individuals.

THE EDITOR.

Teachers relate their # experiences . . .

We should remember that members of our faculty, too often looked upon as people out of the ordinary, have been through the same things we are now going through and have, no doubt, made some of the same mistakes we are making. To those of us who will listen, a great opportunity is given to profit from the experience of those older and wiser than we. Our teachers prepare us for what lies ahead, whether it be college or a full time job after graduation from high school. They strive to plant in us the seed of curiosity and to develop our initiative and resourcefulness in confronting new situations.

City

In the attempt to make our city schools the best possible, Dr. J. McLean Reed has put forth a praise-deserving effort. His job as superintendent of the Danville City Schools has been a large one, but has been very capably handled. Not willing to stop with this huge job, Dr. Reed has extended his talent to many civic organizations. His patience, knowledge, and understanding have made him a friend to all who came in contact with him.

The secretarial staff of Superintendent Reed's office is one that is deserving of all praise and recognition that can be given it. Doing all secretarial work for Dr. Reed, keeping the records for the nineteen public schools, and doing all filing for both is only a fraction of the work carried out by these hard workers.

Mr. Loy O. Froman in his second year as Business Director of the Danville City Schools has proved that the faith shown in him when he was appointed to this job was justified. It was his job to coordinate the purchases of the various schools and to oversee the spending of all money.

Administration

For the past five years, Dr. H. Williamson has led the Board of Education in its struggle for the betterment of public schools. The board was composed of civic-minded people who gave freely of their time in an effort to make the schools function smoothly and properly. With the aid of the seven members of the board, Dr. Williamson has done much toward this cause.

High School

Mr. E. D. Milhon, principal of Danville High School for the past six years, has put forth much time and effort toward a better and more complete education for teen-agers. Being the father of a teen-age girl, he has learned that understanding and sympathy of everyday problems were most needed in making a success of his position. It was in using this knowledge that Mr. Milhon became the friend he was to all students.

E. D. MILHON

As director of guidance, Mr. E. A. Bates performed various tasks. Students came to him for help in rearranging programs, adjusting schedules, and for counsel in preparation for college. One of his most important tasks was that of supervising scholastic tests. Throughout the year several personality, IQ and vocational guidance tests were given to students who were interested. All Seniors were required to take tests on the Constitution of the United States and the State of Illinois, thus adding to the already heavy burden carried by Mr. Bates.

Administration

By using his wit and wisdom toward gaining the friendship of all Danville High School students and faculty members, D. V. Schoolcraft has become one of the most popular persons in DHS. It was through his guidance as Dean of Boys that many have been influenced toward better futures. Some of Mr. Schoolcraft's wise sayings such as "The empty cart rattles the most," will long be remembered as a part of life here at DHS.

Because of her interest in all Danville High School students and because of her kindness and willingness to help, Miss Helen Thompson will always be one of those individuals longest remembered by DHS graduates. Besides acting as Dean of Girls, Miss Thompson also served as advisor for Student Council and Y-Teens, and as director for student monitors. These organizations owe much of their success to the time and effort put forth by this energetic person.

The business office staff has the job of taking care of all money matters for the school. They control the finances of all DHS organizations and also are in charge of distributing tickets during football and basketball seasons, and of selling tickets for Moments Musical.

Cafeteria

Second Row: M. Pickett, I. Boyd, R. Fanson, N. Bradfield, O. Carroll, Mr. Cole, L. Shepherd. First Row: D. Rarion, J. Seibert, G. Bartlow, M. Prouse, S. Hempel.

Although DHS students didn't spend much of their time in the cafeteria, the students enjoyed themselves every moment they were there. A pleasant atmosphere was created through the efforts of the cafeteria staff. Individual tables and soft music which echoed over the loud speakers created a friendly feeling among all.

New methods of serving the food were devised this year in order to provide faster and more efficient service for the students. Six lines were formed—four for the plate lunch and two for the short order. This new system was possible because of new equipment which, although the students were not aware of it, was of much use to the kitchen staff.

The experienced kitchen staff spent much time preparing the delicious lunches. New steam tables made it possible to keep the food hot. Student helpers of the cafeteria served the food, scraped dishes, and made change for the lunch lines. A dishwasher, which was first used last year, contributed to time and energy-saving devices. Only because of the hard work of these people was it possible for the students to enjoy their lunch periods.

Mr. Chick Cole was in charge of the cafeteria, and he supervised all cafeteria details. Whenever the school held parties or other activities which required candy or potato chips, Mr. Cole took the responsibility of ordering them.

The students lined up for lunch.

Maintenance Staff

Mr. C. Plymire, Superintendent of Buildings

Standing: J. Briggs, P. Kronst, E. Hartshorn, L. Neville, C. Meers, C. Hill. Seated: M. Cunningham, E. Stuebe, L. Bennett, F. Hicks, R. Keefer, F. Bonebrake, D. Martin, F. Bailey, V. Parker, A. Williams.

Few of us ever stop to consider the job that is actually done by the maintenance staff of DHS. It is the job of these hard working men and women to keep the school neat and clean both inside and outside. Few of us stop to realize just how much extra work we cause them, especially after basketball and football games. Because of their willingness to help, few of us know that it is not their job to come to the aid of students on special jobs such as cleaning up dropped ink bottles.

Head custodian, Mr. Earl Hartshorn, had the job of caring for stage scenery, lights, curtains, and other articles in the auditorium. Without his assistance it would have been impossible to present the various plays, assemblies and musicals put on by the organizations using the DHS stage.

C. J. Plymire served in the capacity of superintendent of all city school buildings and it was his job to oversee the maintenance of these buildings.

PTA

Mrs. A. R. Brandenberger, Mrs. M. Lewis, Mrs. H. Gerrard, Mrs. P. Timmons, Pres., Mr. E. D. Milhon, Mrs. R. Wittig, Mrs. E. Hallett.

The Danville High School PTA, composed of parents and teachers interested in promoting the welfare of their own and other children in the home, school, church, and community, met four times this year.

The programs for 1953-1954 were of wide variety and interest. At the September meeting the freshman parents were honored. All who attended toured the building and later were served refreshments in the Home Economics Department. A talk on juvenile problems was featured at the November meeting by sociologist James Cook. Seven past presidents were present at the February meeting at which a film on world trade was shown. A student panel was the highlight of the April meeting when DHS students were honored.

The major project of the PTA was a student aid fund which provided $100 per dean annually for the aid of needy students. Each dean distributed the fund as he saw the need. Another project was that of conducting a survey for the city school board to determine the potential growth in the school enrollment in Danville. The members of the Douglas School District assisted with this project, which was done in cooperation with PTA's in other cities.

Officers of this year's PTA were Mrs. Paul Timmons, president; Mrs. Melvin Lewis, 1st vice-president; E. D. Milhon, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. A. R. Brandenberger, secretary; Mrs. Willard Shipman, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Estes, program director; and Mrs. Walter Yovaish, membership director.

Clubs give right of free

expression • • •

For many years students at D.H.S. have enjoyed belonging to the many clubs found here. Beside the fun of association with friends, there are many benefits to be gained from club work. One of these is the opportunity to discover and develop new hobbies and special interests. In four years of club membership a student learns to be a follower with opportunities of developing into a leader. A student also profits from expressing his own ideas and in turn listening to the ideas of other students and older experienced people who appear before him. The right of free assembly then means much to our school.

Medley

Standing: Mr. Hogbin, P. Ribbe, H. Redding, B. Hannah, Miss Watkins, M. Bernard, P. Prast. Seated: B. King, L. Allen, Editor, B. Ross. Absent: Mr. Espy.

The first yearbook was published back in 1904 and since that time it has been recording the highlights, the fun, the tears, and the joys of life in DHS. Each year though the goal of the book has remained the same, the staff has striven to improve it in every way possible.

Early in the year the job of the business staff began with an assembly at which time subscriptions were taken. It was the job of Bill Hannah and his staff to keep track of all records showing payments on subscriptions.

Selling ads to businesses in town began early in the year, too, and the whole Medley staff took part in this. Howard Redding and his assistant, Carl Groen, were in charge here and it was their job to see that pictures for the ads were taken, copy was obtained, and that the advertising section was correctly laid out.

Information about clubs, sports, and activities was gathered all through the year and Mary Bernard and her assistant, Phyllis Prast, were kept busy writing these for Medley use.

It was the job of the editor, Larry Allen, and his assistant, Phil Ribbe, to determine what pictures must be taken and then how they would be used in the book.

The theme of the book was decided by the editors and all work was under the guidance of the adviser, Miss Frances Watkins, and her co-advisers, Miss Betty Sullenberger, Mr. Ralph Espy, and Mr. Finley Hogbin.

It was the job of the photographers to take the pictures that appear in the Medley and because of the lack of experience this was one of the hardest jobs.

The school and organizations staffs headed by Betty Ross and Betty King, respectively, had the job of seeing to it that the individual pictures and the activity section were in order and that all names were correct.

Sketches for division pages were provided by the art staff, and long hours were put in on this.

It is through the combined efforts of all these staffs that the Medley has come to you in its present form.

The staff of 1954 wishes to thank its advisers and all others who helped in making the Medley a success.

Maroon

Under the direction of its two advisers, Miss Katherine Stapp and Miss Esther Cowan, the Maroon and White continued its role as an essential part of the high school life of almost all DHS students.

The paper, which was delivered during homeroom period on Friday mornings, was written essentially to keep everyone informed of life here at DHS. It also, however, brought amusement and good influence through its many features and editorials.

This year the editorial staff was organized a little differently, with an editor chosen to be responsible for the material on each page. Heading the entire staff was Tom Oreskovich as Editor-in-Chief and Sam Hurley as Assistant Editor, with Bob Kolb, Judy King, Tom Kelsheimer, and Jim Vrentas each having the responsibility of one page.

Mondays when the paper went to press the activity around the special Maroon and White corner assured us all that we would soon know all the news of DHS.

and White

The business staff has a never-ending job in keeping the financial end up. Collecting subscriptions and selling and laying out ads alone are enough to keep them busy.

Bob Hible headed the business section this year as Business Manager. Working with him were Alice Pate in charge of advertising and Phil Hicks in charge of circulation. Friday morning the members of homeroom 341 were all very busy as each received his quota of papers to deliver.

Working with the special income group of the Business Staff was Pat Hurley, whose special job was ordering Senior name cards. Cokes were also sold by this staff at the basketball games. Another service which the business staff performed was the compiling of a student directory which was given as a bonus for prompt payment for the paper. We were all grateful to them for this.

The International Quill and Scroll has awarded the Maroon and White honor rating for several years and the National Scholastic Press Association has ranked it in the First Class Group.

Potential journalists could be seen gathered in room 302 each morning during homeroom. Under the instruction of Miss Helen Conover, the Cubs became adept in all stages of producing a newspaper. They were taught to lay out a paper, to write heads, news stories, and features, and to proofread.

Later in the year, the Cubs put what they had learned to use. They published two issues of the paper. Jane Palmer was named editor-in-chief, and Julia Laker was co-editor. Other editors were news, Linda Johnson and Rose Paras; sports, John Deck and Bob Burow; make-up, Helen Elgin and Carol Stickler; photographers, Jim Cunningham and Ivan Read; artist, Wally Yovaish; ad lay-outs, Elsie Walker, Bob Burow, Jackie Mervis; and copy and proofreaders, Nita Timmons and Carol Henderson.

Every Friday morning bits of news that had been gathered through the week were turned in to Miss Helen Conover and then under her direction were written as articles to be sent to the main staff in case space needed filling or some news had been missed by their reporters.

Whenever a vacancy arose on the Maroon and White staff the Cub who had put forth the most effort was given the opportunity to advance. Cub Staffers worked hard with an eye to the future and the time when they would be members of one of the major publications.

International Club

One requirement was made of students who wished to become members of International Club, and that was that they were enrolled in some foreign language class at the high school.

Meetings were held the second Monday of each month in the Little Theatre. Talks by visitors from foreign lands, a discussion of pictures by foreign artists, and panel discussions featured some of the meetings. At the annual Christmas party, customs of other lands were discussed. Gifts were brought by the members to be turned over to the Salvation Army for its work.

The main interest of the club was in developing friendships between American and foreign students.

Pen-pals were acquired and reports were given on letters from these foreign friends and gifts from some of these pen-pals were displayed.

Money for CARE packages was collected in the language classes this year as usual and the packages were designated to be sent to the places they were most needed.

Successfully leading the club, whose adviser was Miss Goldia Roach, was Pat Zeppelin, president. Other officers of the year were Sharon Myers, vice-president; Robert Kolb, secretary; Rose Paras, treasurer; and Joyce Rindt and Terry Waltzer, co-program chairmen.

The club met in the Little Theater.

John Williamson led discussion on party plans.

Student Council

An organization which was composed of presidents of various clubs, publications editors, athletic captains, and the representatives elected by their respective classes, Student Council gave the student body a voice in the activities of DHS. The council planned many assemblies and sponsored parties and projects. It met on Thursdays, sixth hour, in room 246.

In the fall, the council tried a novel method of electing cheerleaders. Try-outs were held and the varsity cheerleaders were selected by the group made up of homeroom representatives and Student Council members. Student Council also sponsored Homecoming. The profits from the dance provided for paid assemblies, and it sent delegates to the State Student Council Convention. Other activities included the Courtesy Campaign, Talent Show, All-School Party, Medley Signing Party, Student-Teacher Panel Discussion and the elections in the spring. Members of the Council had a picnic and hike at Turkey Run in April.

Several groups attended conventions and visited high schools in this area. They went to the State Convention in Chicago, District Convention in Hoopeston, and visited schools in Indiana.

President Joe Fox headed the organization this year, and he was assisted by the following officers: Ted Smith, vice-president; Carol Bahls, secretary; and Bill Stott, treasurer. Miss Helen Thompson was adviser for the Council.

Girls' Club

"The purpose of the Danville High School Girls' Student Club is to create, maintain, and extend ideals of friendship, social service, loyalty and patriotism; to discuss subjects of interest and helpfulness to girls; and to instill in the heart of each one a constant desire to gain and pass along the best things in life." With this purpose and the theme, "Trails to Friendship," in mind, Girls' Club entered its 51st year, planning meetings of interest to all members. These meetings included talent shows, beauty discussions, slides on Europe, and fashion show. Mrs. Frances Meeks, founder of the club, was present at several meetings.

Some of the club's activities included selling football programs and refreshments at basketball games. During the Christmas season, a group of girls entertained patients at nursing homes in the Danville area. Also, Girls' Club presented its annual award to the Best Girl Citizen.

Janet Korngiebel was president for '53-'54. Other officers were Mary Ann Leisch, vice-president; Phyllis Prast, secretary; Carol Bahls, treasurer; and Marilyn Mackin, pianist. Head adviser was Mrs. Harriet Rewerts, who was assisted by other faculty members in the different departments of the club.

Dramatic Club

Dramatic Club, one of the few DHS clubs whose membership was placed on a competitive basis, was one of the largest school organizations. Membership was based on try-outs held before a committee of faculty judges in the fall and new members were introduced at the first meeting.

Each member of the club had a chance to perform at least once a year as one-act plays under student directors were presented at the meetings. In addition, the Dramatic Club play was given in February. This year a three-act comedy, "Stag Line," was given.

In the way of social events the club's outstanding project was the annual alumni Christmas banquet, at which time some of the returning alumni furnished entertainment.

Most of the credit for the success of the club was due to the work of their adviser, Miss Mary Miller, and their officers, president, Mari Anne Davison; vice-president, Richard Castle; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Divan; play critic, Janet Korngiebel; and play manager, Fred Mauck.

Wranglers Club

Any student in high school who was interested in public speaking and debating was given a chance to express himself at Wranglers Club. This club, the second oldest in DHS, was originally founded in 1911.

This year, in observance of Thanksgiving, the club planned and presented the annual assembly. The program consisted of skits, readings, and songs. This assembly helped DHS students view more clearly their reasons for being thankful.

One of the most interesting meetings was the one based on a Hawaiian theme. Miss Ruth Sandeson, head of the Social Science department, who had recently visited Hawaii, was guest speaker. Student speakers discussed the progress over 100 years, Hawaiian music, and the pro's and con's concerning statehood.

A special homeroom was for members of Speakers Bureau. This part of the club was open to any Wrangler who had given two speeches and was approved by faculty judges. During homeroom the orators learned and practiced their speaking abilities.

Richard Castle headed the club as president. He was assisted by vice-president, Sharon Myers; secretary-treasurer, Marilyn Mackin; membership chairman, Pat Rhode; program chairman, Tom Hawkins; and social chairman, Connie Sutton. Nancy Freeze was president of Speakers Bureau. Mrs. Grace Sprouls and Miss Ruth Sandeson were co-advisers of the club.

Worth While Writers

All phases of writing were discussed at Worth While Writers' Club meeting. The purpose of the club was to develop creative skills and a better appreciation of prose and poetry. This club is open to anyone interested in writing, and one original writing had to be submitted for membership. Regular members handed in their writings throughout the year. These writings were read by the critic, who kept track of all writings, corrected, and some were published in the Maroon and White. Other writings were read at meetings.

President Mary Bernard led the club through its successful year. Highlights of the year included a Valentine party, when everyone made an original valentine; a movie on the fundamentals of writing; talks on how to write; a spring picnic; and a radio program on which members read their writings.

Mary was assisted by the following officers: Joanna Kleiner, vice-president; Marilyn Gogerty, secretary, and Joyce Rindt, treasurer. Phyllis Prast served as literary critic, and Cabinet chairmen included Judy King, program chairman; Kathryn Gugin, membership. Miss Boyer was adviser.

Home Economics Club

Standing: Mary Ann Smith, Miss Smoot, Arminda Chambers, Charlotte Ferland, Linda Bishop, Mrs. Fliermans, Sue Tevebaugh. Seated: Ann Chandler, Virginia Eastman, Pres.

Home Economics Club is composed of girls interested in that field. At meetings, held on the second Thursday of each month, student demonstrations, guest speakers, movies, and group discussions made up the programs.

Social activities were certainly not lacking. A swimming party, a tour of Producers Dairy, a spring picnic, and a hamburger fry constituted the majority of them. The highlight of the year, however, was a style show and tea at which time the girls modeled some of the pretty clothes they had made through the year.

Virginia Eastman was president for the year and she was assisted by officers: Ann Chandler, vice-president; Charlotte Ferland, secretary-treasurer; Mary Ann Smith, publicity chairman; Judy Farley, social chairman; Sue Tevebaugh, program chairman; Pat Andre, parliamentarian, and Linda Bishop, membership chairman.

The success of the club can be contributed in some part to the wise council given these girls by their advisors.

Art Club

Standing: Irene Hafner, Miss Sullenberger. Seated: Nancy Ostenburg, Pres., Jackie Roberts, Mary Pichon.

Field trips to interesting places in Danville and were the highlights of '53-54 season. Trips included a visit to Sandusky's Furniture Store. Another interesting meeting was presented by Bess Fullerton, who gave a demonstration on making handicrafts, including jewelry. At these regular meetings on every third Tuesday, discussions on different phases of art were held. Art Club membership was open to any student in DHS interested in art.

Art Club was also active in activities around DHS. All of the programs for the Homecoming Dance were made by art-clubbers. During the Christmas Season, members made the Christmas display in the north hall, including the papier mache figures under the tree. Art Club was also in charge of the distribution of tickets for the All-School Party.

Under Miss Betty Sullenberger as adviser, the following officers headed the club: Nancy Ostenburg, president; Mary Ann Pichon, vice-president; Jackie Roberts, secretary, and Irene Hafner, treasurer.

Science Club

"What are flying saucers?" The answer to this, and other such questions, was discussed at meetings of Science Club. Student demonstrations and films added variety to the meetings.

Science Club held meetings the first and third Thursdays of every month. The purpose of the club was to promote an interest in science, to promote the aims of science, and to study the uses of science in everyday life.

Led by President Richard Crang, this club participated in many educational activities. Members made several field trips. These trips included an exploration of the DHS tunnels and visits to the Danville City Waterworks, the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, and to the University of Illinois Engineering Open House. Other activities included an annual Christmas party, and the presentation of a radio program as a part of the regular Radio Staff broadcasts.

Other officers for the year included vice-president, Alan Huffer; secretary-treasurer, Evelyn Delattre; reporter, Bob Laury. The club was advised by Mr. Harold Seip and Mr. C. O. Johnson.

Hi-Y

Standing: Mr. Seip, Wayne Mingee, Pres., Mr. Murphy. Seated: Bill Cornwell, Norman Katz, Dave Brown, Roger McMillan.

President Wayne Mingee led the Hi-Y members this year. Their meetings, held the first and third Wednesdays at the YMCA were open to any boy in high school. Guest speakers included the high school coaches, John Eckert from WDAN and Jake Higgins from WITY.

Other activities included the sponsoring of dances after the games and the "Sweetheart Supper." Mr. Doug Monahan, State Boys' Work Secretary, told about his trip to Europe and his experiences.

Two representatives from the club were sent to the Youth and Government Program at Springfield where Carl Esslinger served as the Chaplain of the Senate. He was elected at a meeting in Champaign which several of the boys attended. The officers also took part in the Hi-Y Tri-Y Clinic at the Decatur YWCA.

An annual spring picnic at which the new officers were elected closed the year's activities. Serving with the president this year were Norman Katz, vice-president; R. David Brown, secretary; Bill Cornwell, treasurer; Roger McMillan, chaplain, and Mr. Harold Seip and Mr. Glen Murphy, advisers.

An unusual variety of programs was presented to Y-Teens this year as the members enjoyed and participated in religious programs, a chili-swim party, Mothers' tea, and a birthday party for all Y-Teens.

Affiliated with the Y.W.C.A., the club participated in many social service projects, visiting the Children's Home, Vermilion County Nursing Home, and The Tuberculosis Sanitarium. Y-Teens also sent delegates to the summer conference at Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois. Last summer, Harriet Burgheim, Joanna Kleiner, Phyllis Prast, and Marjorie Vestal were representatives.

This year's officers were Joanna Kleiner, president; Janet Korngiebel, vice-president; Judy Dill, secretary, and Phyllis Prast, treasurer. Advisers were Miss Helen Thompson and Miss Ruth Smoot of Danville High School, and Miss Marilyn White of the Y.W.C.A.

Standing: B. Chambers, E. Cunningham, D. Wilson, S. Suggs.
Seated: Minerva Carter, Pres., Louise Stringfellow.

Every first and third Wednesday the Phyllis Wheatley Y-Teens met either in room 244 at DHS for their business meetings or at the Y for a program. These programs were planned to interest any Y-Teen. Panel discussions and qualified speakers were featured at these bi-monthly meetings.

One of the main projects of the year was that of selling salt-water taffy. Miss Kathryn Watts' room was headquarters for this project. The taffy was sold to DHS students and faculty.

Three members were sent to the Illinois State

Y-Teen Conference at Bradley University in Peoria. This conference was held the last week in August. Minerva Carter, Benita Chambers, and Louise Stringfellow attended, participating in all conference activities. They brought home many new ideas for their own club.

The officers were Minerva Carter, president; Benita Chambers, vice-president, and Frances Buford, secretary-treasurer. Two DHS faculty members, Miss Donna Stuebe and Miss Kathryn Watts served as advisers.

Projectors Club

Standing: Dave Clendenen, Edwin Meyer. Seated: Larry Punko, Howard Carithers, Pres., Phil Ribbe.

Projectors Club, organized as a part of the Danville Audio-Visual Department six years ago, has rapidly become an important part of life around DHS. The club was responsible for the showing of all movies used in class work and also took charge of movies at the All-School Party.

It was only necessary for members, all boys who were trained in the use of projectors, to operate in one class period a week. A schedule was kept in club adviser Miss Grace Brandenberger's office and the boys checked with her on the schedule to see when they were to be operator.

The club with a membership of 56 had its own homeroom for the first time and Miss Helen Wolff and Mr. Bennett served as homeroom advisers.

Howard Carithers served as president of the club this year and his fellow officers were: vice-president, Phil Ribbe; secretary, Ed Meyer, and treasurer, Dave Clendenen.

Future Teachers of America

Members of FTA were either juniors or seniors who were interested in the teaching profession. Any student who was taking the Introduction to Teaching course was automatically a member. Meetings were held during class the first semester and once a month the second semester.

At these meetings members discussed topics pertaining to teaching, such as problems of teaching, disadvantages, advantages, requirements, and qualifications. Students also discussed situations they encountered while practice teaching.

The one-semester course was divided into three periods. The first six weeks the class read books, listened to speeches, and saw movies on teaching. The second period it visited grade schools throughout the city and studied the individual child. The third period each student taught in a grade school under the supervision of an experienced teacher.

At one meeting, a speaker from Eastern Illinois State College spoke on the teaching profession. Former members of FTA gave their opinions of their choice. The class also presented speeches at Hoopeston High school for a vocational program. Another activity was being co-sponsor of the Homecoming parade.

The officers for '53-54 were Arlene Hodgson, president; Jean Wade, vice-president; Dan Winland, secretary; Betty King, treasurer, and Mari Anne Davison, social chairman. Miss Katherine Stapp, teacher of the class, was adviser of the club.

Future Distributors of America

Trips to various industries and businesses in Danville and Chicago offered valuable education and experience for FDA members. The highlights of the Chicago trip included the Merchandise Mart, Federal Reserve Bank, Museum of Science and Industry, Chicago Stock Exchange, and Kroger Bakery. The Danville visits included Paxton's Warehouse, Consolidated Products, City Hall, First National Bank, and Florsheim Shoe Company.

Other activities included several parties held throughout the year. One outstanding social event was the Bosses' Banquet held at the Boat Club. The club sponsored a skating party and sock hop at the Illini Roller Palace. Six members attended the State FDA Convention at Springfield. The club also sponsored a trip to Washington for Seniors.

FDA consisted of members of the Distributive Education Class. This class, open to any senior interested in entering business, attended school in the morning and worked in the afternoon. These people learned the various aspects of working through Mr. Newton's lessons and personal experience.

The class elected the following officers: Larry Laker, president; Dick Pierce, vice-president; Sharon Griffith, secretary; Carol Beltrone, treasurer, and Patricia Dickson, reporter.

A Cappella

Joyful songs and music echoed from room G202 during first hour every day. There the A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Pansy Legg and accompanied by Miss Helen Wolff, worked hard to achieve perfection for its various performances. Friendship and sportsmanship were also emphasized throughout the year.

This active group was busy preparing for some event almost every day. Several civic organizations called upon them to present music programs. Work was begun at the beginning of the year for the first major production, Fall Concert. Immediately following this, members began practicing for the Christmas Assembly. Another Yuletide event was caroling in the halls by the music students. After the holidays, it was "back to work" as preparations for the annual Moments Musical started. This year the choir recaptured the spirit of the days of the old west. Next the Big 12 Music Festival was held in Danville, and finally came the graduation exercises.

However, all of the choir's activities weren't work. Parties were held throughout the year, especially after each major production. At the Swing Ding in April, awards were presented for work in music.

Officers for 1953-1954 were the following: Pat Hurley and Ted Smith, presidents; Bill Cornwell and Janice Mahoney, vice-presidents; Kay Taylor, secretary; Mari Anne Davison, treasurer; Carl Noble, monitor, and Margo Lombom, Donna Evans, Jean Sumrall and Lucia Hatton, librarians.

Euterpeans

"Sweet Colleen" was pleasing to all

Just as members of the chorus classes hoped to become part of A Cappella, A Cappella members aspired for Euterpeans. It was quite an honor to achieve this goal. Becoming a member of this select group was difficult, for Euterpeans were chosen on the basis of several qualities. These included voice quality, dependability, and showmanship. The chief activity of this group was the presentation of the first unit of Moments Musical. The more difficult vocal arrangements were done by Euterpeans.

This year, for Moments Musical the eighteen couples danced and sang to the tunes of Irish melodies in "A Spot In Old Ireland." The perfection and harmony were the results of hard work and long practices. Every night after school from early January until late in March, the group rehearsed its complicated routines. Although it was hard work, each member admitted it was worth it.

This group of eighteen couples sang and danced "The Kerry Dance." Next, Fred Mauck sang about "The Tumble Down Shack in Athlone." Patricia Henk flitted through "My Name Is Kelly," as she portrayed the Rinne Fada Dancer. The entire group combined talents to present "Sweet Colleen." Soloist Jack Drews asked "How Are Things in Glocca Morra?"; Elaine Milhon and John Miller joined together in singing "The Donovans." Finally, the curtain closed on the 1954 group of Euterpeans.

This group was under the direction of Miss Pansy Legg and was accompanied by Miss Helen Wolff.

Band

Few high school presentations could be complete without the music of the DHS band. This group's tricky formations and nimble majorettes entertained spectators during the football season; it played peppy numbers at half-time for the basketball season; short, lively numbers highlighted the many pep assemblies. In this way, the band backed the sports activities. This musical group was invaluable to the morale and pep of DHS, and it deserved much credit.

Senior band also participated in two major productions at DHS. In the fall, the boys donned dress suits and the girls formals, and the band presented a wide variety of numbers for Fall Concert. Later in the spring, the band again cooperated with the vocal department in the presentation of Moments Musical. The band was responsible for the second unit of the show. "Music a la Carte" included all dif-

Dear Ricky,
You are a real sweet boy. I've enjoyed knowing you.
Love
Duke

Ricky

I have really enjoyed knowing you this year. So I have had the pleasure of knowing you over the years and hope our friendship carries on.

Your friend
Cameron Ingram

Ricky,
We've had fun being in some of your classes and homeroom with
you. We'd be Juniors next year. Just think, the next step is Seniors!

And you are very sweet and I hope that you have the best of luck
throughout your life.

With lots of love,
Gina

Ricky,
I have enjoyed knowing you this year & every other year. Good luck in the future
Love,
Kathy Ward

Ricky,
It has been fun being in some of your classes. After I move back this summer I wish you all the best in school & work. Love Mitchell

Rickey,
So a great guy from a better one. May you have the best life can give. <sup>Ha Ha</sup>
May a bird of Paradise fly down your throat.

Rickey
Best of luck to you throughout life.
Hope you get what you want.
Best of luck

Rickey,
Best wishes
and the Best of Luck in all that you do. May God Bless you
your friend,
Pam M.

Rickey
I have enjoyed you
class with you this year.
I will always remember you and your best of luck
your friend
M. J.

Ricky,
It has been really great fun getting to know you this year. In 6th period study hall we have fun. Good luck in the future, May
